Town of Huntington

Office of Councilwoman Susan A. Berland

Town Council ♦ 100 Main Street ♦ Huntington, NY 11743

Dear Fellow Residents:

I am proud to present the 2nd edition of Huntington's War Heroes: A Guide to Our Town's Historic Veterans. This edition is dedicated to the memory of Leonard R. Totoro, Jr., a heroic Korean War veteran and a beloved member of the Huntington community who passed away in 2010.

This Guide features articles on four veterans who have left a lasting legacy in our Town: Henry Scudder: the Revolutionary War hero turned New York delegate to the Constitutional Convention who was famous for capturing sixteen British soldiers at one time; Joshua Hartt: the patriotic minister known for his fiery anti-British sermons during the American Revolution and for performing the marriages of over 1,000 Huntington residents; Hiram Paulding: the War of 1812 veteran appointed by President Lincoln to build a wartime fleet and to evaluate the newly-built iron ship; and Huntington High School Class of 1911 Salutatorian Leroy Grumman; founder, Chairman and Director of Grumman Aerospace Corporation.

Huntington's War Heroes: A Guide to Our Town's Historic Veterans contains a list of veterans from the Revolutionary War, War of 1812 and Civil War who are buried in the Town of Huntington. Also included is a list of all historic cemeteries located in the Town: the name and location of each cemetery, the years in which it was active and the number of residents buried there.

Huntington's War Heroes: A Guide to Our Town's Historic Veterans contains both an application to include a veteran buried in the Town of Huntington in the Third Edition of Huntington's War Heroes and an application to receive the Town of Huntington Veterans Memorial Headstone Marker. Sponsored by Telephonics Corporation, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the Town of Huntington Veterans Advisory Committee, the Memorial Headstone Marker program was begun to acknowledge and commemorate the service of any veteran buried in the Town of Huntington. The marker features a gold plate with the words "This Memorial Is In Recognition of Honored Service" as well as the Town of Huntington seal. The marker can be placed adjacent to the headstone and will be free of charge to any resident that completes the application and provides service documentation.

If you have any comments or questions on the Guide or any other issue, my door is always open. I can be reached at Huntington Town Hall at (631) 351-3173.

Very truly yours,

SUSAN A. BERLAND
Councilwoman

Leonard R. Totoro, Jr.

(1931-2010)

Leonard R. Totoro, Jr. was a heroic Korean War veteran and a beloved member of the Huntington community. He joined the Army in 1948 at the age of 17 and attended the U.S. Army School of Photography. Mr. Totoro was one of seven photographers requested by General MacArthur to be sent to Korea, where he was attached to the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team and earned the bronze star. In 1956, following his return to the States, Mr. Totoro married his sweetheart Louise Pisacano and opened up L&L Camera, a staple amongst Huntington Village businesses.

Upon returning home after the war, Mr. Totoro became a driving force for the rights and well-being of veterans in Huntington. He spearheaded the effort to create the Town's Korean War and Vietnam War Memorials and the restoration of the World War II monument. He was a charter member of the Town of Huntington Veterans Advisory Board and served most recently as its Vice Chairman and liaison to the Supervisor's Office.

Mr. Totoro was a proud and active member of the Town of Huntington community. He served as a Eucharistic Minister in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church and combined his love for photography, history and his Town by publishing Huntington: Then and Now, a photographic journey through the history of Huntington Village.

Mr. Totoro will be remembered as an enthusiastic and passionate protector of veterans rights in the Town of Huntington and will always be revered for his service to his country and to his community.

Henry Scudder

1743-1822

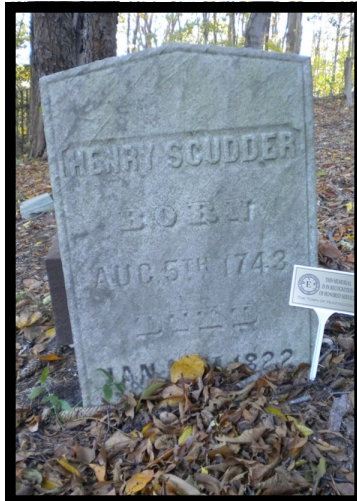

Henry Scudder was a Huntington native and war hero. Born in 1743, he was a member of the 37th New York militia during the Revolutionary War and a representative at the New York Constitutional Convention.

The Scudder family was one of the earliest Huntington residents, settling in the mid-1700's from Salem, Massachusetts. By 1774, Henry Scudder was chosen to serve on the Town Committee, which helped disseminate news of events in the other colonies and plan for coordinated action against the British. At a General Town meeting on May 2nd, 1775, Henry Scudder was named 2nd Lieutenant in a company of 80 men chosen to be ready to march and fight. On August 27, 1776, he was captured by the British at the Battle of Long Island. Once released, he spent the remainder of the war playing a major role in strategizing amphibious landings and raids to disrupt the English.

This phase of the war was also particularly dangerous for Mr. Scudder, who was almost captured or killed on numerous occasions. However, his help in disrupting vital British supply lines and transferring those supplies to Washington's army was monumental in the American effort. In one instance, Scudder hid in the chimney of his house while a British officer threatened to kill his wife if she did not turn him in. Scudder's wife did not betray him and the officer did not follow through on the threat. But as he left, the officer said, "If I don't find your rebel husband in a week, I'll be in my coffin." The words turned out to be true. In less than a week, Scudder and a party of rebels surrounded a house where the officer was playing cards. Scudder shot the officer and took sixteen prisoners.

After the war, Scudder was part of the New York State Constitutional Convention. He helped frame the Constitution and later became a Suffolk County representative in the State legislature for several terms.

He died in 1822 in Northport and is buried in the Scudder Cemetery on Route 25A across from his farm.

Joshua Hartt

1738-1829

Joshua Hartt was a Revolutionary War hero from Huntington. Born in 1738 on a farm in Dix Hills, he grew up in the anti-British pre-Revolutionary War period. At the age of 32, he became an ordained minister and began his excitable and testy sermons against the British.

During the War, Reverend Hartt was widely known for his critical views of the British. His views, which translated in fiery sermons against the British, eventually landed him in jail. He called for his followers to take up arms against the English through aphorism and allegory. The imposing Reverend, at an alleged 300 pounds, was placed in chains, thrown in a wagon and hauled to Provost Prison in New York City. There, according to local lore, he met Ethan Allen, whom he befriended.

After the war, the Reverend became known as the “marrying minister.” He is said to have married over 1,000 couples in the Huntington area. Considering population differences between today and the time Hartt was alive, this is quite an outstanding and venerable number.

Between Hartt’s sermons, capture, post-war work and marriages he has become quite well known throughout Huntington history. Hartt died in 1829 at the age of 91 and is buried in the Northport Rural Cemetery. His legacy as a patriot reverend and marrying minister have become a staple in our Town history books.

Hiram Paulding

1797-1878

Hiram Paulding, born in 1797, was extremely interested in the military at an early age.

In 1811, at the age of just 13, Paulding was appointed midshipman. After fighting the British in the War of 1812, Paulding continued to serve in the military, where he received promotion after promotion. He was part of a group that led to the capture and return of William Walker, an American trying to seize control of Nicaragua. President Buchanan forced Paulding into retirement due to the controversy in the states over seizing American nationals in foreign lands.

Years later, in 1861, Paulding was appointed by President Lincoln to assist in building up a wartime fleet during the Civil War. In this office, Paulding was instrumental in evaluating John Ericsson's design of the iron ship, a technology still in its early stages. Paulding then took over the New York Navy Yard. After the war, Paulding served as a Governor in a Naval Asylum in Philadelphia and as Post-Admiral in Boston.

Admiral Paulding spent much of his life honing his skills in the Navy before he passed away in Huntington in 1878 at the age of eighty-eight. He is buried in the Huntington Rural Cemetery. His legacy continued to live on through the U.S. Navy Destroyer USS Paulding DD 21 (1909-1934.) This ship served in World War One and had a post war career with the U.S. Coast Guard.

Leroy Grumman

1895-1982

Leroy Grumman, born and raised in Huntington, is one of Huntington's more successful residents. Grumman was born in 1895, received honors as the Huntington High School Class of 1911 Salutatorian and went on to study engineering at Cornell.

After graduating, he served in the U.S. Naval Reserve as a flight instructor for a bombing squadron. He worked various jobs before starting Grumman Aeronautical Engineering Company with his friend Leon Swirlbul on January 2nd, 1930 in an abandoned warehouse in Baldwin. Today, his company is part of Northrup Grumman, which has become one of the premier aerospace and military corporations in the world. After about a decade, and with the rise of fighting in Europe during World War II, Grumman's sales were extraordinary. With Grumman's F4F Wildcats in high demand from the British and French, the company continued to produce new models like the Hellcat, Avenger, Bearcat and many others. At one point, Grumman set a record for building 664 planes in a single month. As he continued to expand and hire additional employees, Grumman came to be known as the major aerospace and military corporation it is today.

After the war, Grumman had to drastically downsize. While he tried to keep as many veterans and skilled workers as possible, the lack of conflict created a drainage of buyers for Grumman's products. Grumman guided his company through these difficult times, allowing it to continue to be the industrial heavyweight it is today. The company eventually helped in space programs that landed men on the moon. It was at this time that the company was rebranded as Grumman Aerospace Corporation.

In 1966 Leroy Grumman retired as Chairman, although he remained as a Director until 1972. He continued to visit the company's facilities until his health began to fail in the early 1980's. He passed away on October 4th, 1982 in Manhasset, New York.
